- The Great Southern REEF is home to the Leafy Sea DRAGON.
- Common bathroom products contain MICROBEADS which end up in the OCEAN.
- Leafy Sea Dragons' favourite food is a small crustacean called a MYSID. They eat these by slurping them up through their pipe-like SNOUT.
- When breeding, the male Leafy Sea Dragon holds the bright PINK eggs on the sticky underside of his tail, which is called a BROOD patch.
- Aboriginal people refer to the ocean as sea COUNTRY, and the Kurna word for head is MUKARDA.
